

ABSTRACT

The present invention is directed to a process for producing an unexpectedly workable dough via the use of pregelatinized amylose-containing starches, as well as the products produced therefrom. The 5 invention also includes the pregelatinized amylose-containing starches characterized by specific rheological properties.

0982123-061504
105190-8212860